DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-22 and 41-53 are pending in the case.

Any rejection of record in the previous action not addressed in this office action is withdrawn.

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

The amendment filed 11/6/06 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: The proposed amendment to paragraph [0034] introduces new matter, since the term "inducer" is broader in scope than "lactose"; and the addition of the term "inducible" to the term "expression" also changes the scope of the disclosure. Furthermore, the alteration to the Table 1 introduces new matter.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 1-22 and 40-53 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Art Unit: 1636

This rejection is maintained essentially for the reasons made of record in the previous Office action.

Applicant's arguments filed 11/6/06 have been considered but have not been found to be convincing.

Applicant has argued that all terms previously identified by the examiner in the statement of the rejection, i.e. bacterial cells, promoters, inducers, metabolites, and media components, have been adequately described since limitations such as "cells are adapted for use in expression of cloned DNA" and "promoter whose activity can be induced by an exogenous inducer whose ability to induce said promoter is dependent on the metabolic state of said bacterial cells", etc., are present in the claims. Applicants further argue that undue experimentation is not needed to practice the invention since the experimentation is merely iterative and is routinely practiced in the art (page 17). However, it is maintained that the presence of functional limitations do not in and of themselves do not provide adequate written description of the genres encompassed by the claims. Vas-Cath V. Mahurkar, 19USPQ2d 1111, clearly states "applicant must convey with reasonable clarity to those skilled in the art that, as of the filing date sought, he or she was in possession of the invention. The invention is, for purposes of the 'written description' inquiry, whatever is now claimed." (See page 1117). The specification does not "clearly allow persons of ordinary skill in the art to recognize that

[he or she] invented what is now claimed.” (See Vas-Cath at page 1116). As discussed above, the skilled artisan cannot envision the detailed chemical structure of the encompassed genus of cells, promoters, inducers, metabolites that prevent induction by said inducers, and culture media, and therefore conception is not achieved until reduction to practice has occurred, regardless of the complexity or simplicity of the method of isolation or identification. Adequate written description requires more than a mere statement that it is part of the invention and reference to a potential method of isolating it. The compound itself is required. See Fiers v. Revel, 25USPQ2d 1601 at 1606 (CAFC 1993) and Amgen Inc. v. Chugai Pharmaceutical Co. Ltd., 18USPQ2d 1016.

One cannot describe what one has not conceived. See Fiddes v. Baird, 30 USPQ2d 1481 at 1483. In Fiddes, claims directed to mammalian FGF's were found to be unpatentable due to lack of written description for that broad class. The specification provided only the bovine sequence. Applicant's arguments regarding the amount of experimentation needed to practice the invention throughout its scope are not relevant, since the rejection is based on the written description requirement. Therefore, the rejection is maintained.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 1636

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
